UNCLE SAM TO ERECT THREE GREAT BUILDINGS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—A massive aquarium for the fisheries bureau, a magnificent state dining room and a comprehensive law library system are among the striking features of a trio of great department buildings to cost an aggregate of $7,750,000 in Washington under the three agricultural competitions announced today. The competitions are for the selection of architects of the building for the department of state, justice and commerce and labor under the authorizations limiting the expenditures to $2,300,000, $1,900,000 and $3,550,000. The building will be erected just south of the treasury building.

The competitions, which will close December 30 next, and will be passed upon by an expert committee of architects in New York, Washington, Buffalo, San Francisco, Philadelphia, Boston, Baltimore, St. Louis, Detroit, Cleveland, Omaha and Columbus, O. The state department building is to have a ground area of 72,000 square feet. It will have 325 rooms, including a state dining room, two reception rooms and an international conference room. This feature alone taking up 6000 square feet of floor space. The department of justice building, with a ground area of 57,900 square feet, will contain 25 rooms. A feature will be the law library, which, with the adjacent reading room, will have a combined floor space of 7500 square feet and the main stack room on a mezzanine floor with 12,000 lineal feet of book shelves. The commerce and labor building, with 90,000 square feet of ground area, the largest structure of all, will have 450 rooms, including an aquarium occupying 28,000 feet of floor space and 75,000 feet square for the census bureau. The state and justice building will be three stories and basement, and the commerce and labor five stories and basement.

SHOULD BE LEFT TO LEGISLATURE

Copies of three propositions introduced by delegates from Cochise county were received by the International this morning. These three propositions cover legislative functions and educational qualifications and are as follows: By Mr. Connelly. It is hereby proposed: Section 1. Any law initiated or referred to the people, and which received a majority voting thereon, in favor of such law, shall not be declared to be unconstitutional unless in conflict with the federal constitution. By Mr. Bradner. It is hereby proposed: No person shall have the right to vote or be eligible to office under the constitution of this state, who shall not be able to read the constitution in the English language and write his name; provided, however, that the provisions of this law shall not apply to any person prevented by a physical disability from complying with its regulations, nor to any person who now has the right to vote, nor to any person who shall be 50 years of age or upwards at the time this law shall take effect. By Mr. Ellinwood. It is proposed: Section 1. Every bill shall be read on three different days in each house, and no bill shall be passed or become a law unless it shall have been printed and upon the desks of the members. In its final form, at least three calendar legislative days prior to its final passage, unless in a case of urgency, two-thirds of all the members elected to each house, by votes of yeas and nays, dispense with this provision; and upon the last reading of a bill no amendment thereof shall be allowed. No special or local law shall be considered by the legislature until notice of the intended introduction of such bill or bills shall first have been published for ten consecutive days in some newspaper published or of general circulation, in the city or county affected by such law, stating in substance the contents thereof, and verified proof of such publication filed with the secretary of state. For Sale at Review, old papers, 25c a bundle, 100 to a bundle.

JUDGE DOE SAYS THE LOCAL OPTION LAW IS VALID

PHOENIX, Oct. 27.—The local option law of Arizona is valid, and registration of voters is not required for such elections ordered by the board of supervisors, is the decision of Judge Doe in the case of the territory against William Gronlund of Walker, where liquor was sold after the district was voted dry. The case was watched with interest by the anti-saloon forces in Arizona. The matter was up before the supreme court on a habeas corpus proceedings, but the court held against the defendant. It is understood that Judge Doe consulted with other members of the supreme court before rendering his decision in the present instance and that the decision is in accord with that of Judge Kent in the Tempe case on the point of "re-registration." Judge Doe in his decision says: "The defendant appeals from a judgment of conviction under the provisions of section 13, paragraph 3070, revised statutes of 1901, and under the stipulation of facts the only question presented for determination is whether or no it was necessary to the validity of the local option election in school district No. 21, that prior thereto the board of supervisors should have required the re-registration of the voters of said school district. Our local option law appears to have been adopted from Texas, but its provisions have generally been construed in connection with election laws differing from ours. The Texas decisions afford but little aid in the construction of the statute under consideration. "The order for the election seems to be a jurisdictional prerequisite, and if required the local option law becomes inoperative. Obviously a reasonable construction should be adopted which will effectuate the manifest legislative intent. So far as it affects the question under consideration, I see no difference between the 'voter' and 'qualified voter,' as used in the statute, and as the supervisors are only authorized to order an election upon the presentation of a petition signed by the majority of voters, upon the presentation of a petition for such purpose, a judicial rather than a ministerial duty devolves upon the board. The only practical evidence consists of the existing great register of the county. If the names of a sufficient number of signers appear thereon, it may well be taken as prima facie evidence that such signers are qualified voters. "I am of the opinion that a local option election is neither a general nor a special election, within the meaning of paragraph 2284 of the revised statutes of Arizona, 1901, as amended by chapter 13, laws of 1908.—Shoen vs. Hughes, 40 Pacific, 673—and that a re-registration of the voters for local option elections, affecting less than an entire county, is not necessary to the validity of the election."

POLO AT FAIR

EL PASO, Tex., Oct. 27.—(Special)—Polo as it is played throughout the world will be seen for the first time in the Southwest at the El Paso fair and southwestern exposition next week. Dr. J. A. Edmunds, himself the greatest polo authority in America is in charge of the arrangements for the polo tournament, which will be played during the big fair. Teams from Fort Sam Houston at San Antonio, Tex., Midland, Tex., Fort Bliss, Tex., and El Paso will compete for the silver trophy cups which have been offered by the fair association for the winning team in the polo contest. These games will be played on the infield of the hippodrome on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday; El Paso, Statehood and Dan Patch days at the fair. In connection with the El Paso fair, that is to say during the fair period, there is to be held a series of cowboy and roundup sports which will include bronco busting, rough riding, steer roping and tying and other interesting and exciting events. Since the laws of Texas do not permit the sport of steer roping these events are held across the international boundary line at Cowboy park in Juarez. World's championship events are scheduled to be run off at the coming meeting at Juarez and the program which covers the dates from November 1 to 5 is an interesting one. Those who visit the fair find plenty of added entertainment and sport at Cowboy park and its tournament.

Henry George, Jr., son of the noted single tax exponent, has been nominated for congress by the democrats of the Seventeenth district of New York.
